

Sunday Star-Ledger

SUNDAY BUSINESS

SECTION THREE | MAY 1, 2011 | NJ.COM

EXECUTIVE MOVES

■ The board of directors for Protect Pharmaceutical Corporation in Princeton appointed Ramesha Sessa as chief executive and chairman of the board and appointed Keith Elison as chief financial officer. Sessa previously served as chief operating officer and board member for the corporation.

■ Little Kids Rock in Cedar Grove named Judy Hurley of Montclair to the position of chief operating officer. She was previously a member of the National Alliance for Childhood Cancer and North American Brain Tumor Coalition. Hurley has a bachelor's degree in social work from Anna Maria College in Massachusetts.

■ Investors Savings Bank in Freehold hired Shari Scaramuzza as assistant vice president and branch manager of the bank's Freehold location. She previously worked with Sovereign Bank, serving in numerous positions, including branch manager and sales performance consultant. Scaramuzza also earned an economics degree from Rutgers University.

■ Konica Minolta Business Solutions in Ramsey promoted Rick Taylor to president and chief operating officer. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas with a bachelor of science in business administration.

■ Jones Lang LaSalle in Hasbrouck Heights hired Robert Silverman as senior vice president of the company's supply chain and logistics solutions team. He previously worked for Tommy Hilfiger USA where he served as vice president of IT business systems.

Tim Sparvero

See photos of people from the business community on the move and post yours for free at nj.com/business